Canadian Rocky Mountain Resorts Offers

A Mother's Day to Treasure

Banff, Alberta, Canada (April 20, 2009) – Mother's Day has always been a chance to show mom how much you care-Hallmark cards fly off the shelves, restaurants are packed and the parks are full of families spending time with the moms in their lives.

Canadian Rocky Mountain Resorts is offering a chance to really make a statement this Mother's Day, offering a 'Mother's Day in the Rockies' package at Buffalo Mountain Lodge in Banff, and Deer Lodge in Lake Louise. The package includes one night accommodation, a 3 course a-la-carte dinner, breakfast and chocolates for mom. (No cooking, washing dishes or making beds in the morning required!) The package starts from $294.00 at Deer Lodge, or $372.00 at Buffalo Mountain Lodge, plus tax per night, based on double occupancy. That covers mom and dad, and any little ones under 18 years of age may stay in the same room for no extra charge (meals not included for the extra guests, and number of guests allowed per room varies, depending on number of beds in the room).

This special package is the perfect opportunity for a little mini vacation-much better than a 'staycation!' Treat mom to a truly special Mother's Day. And if you can't get away now, there are always CRMR gift certificates which can be used at any one of our mountain lodges or Calgary restaurants.
